Essentials

West Hollywood is one of the most diverse cities we know, boasting large factions of older Russian immigrants living side by side with WeHo's sizeable gay population, to name just two groups. This eclectic quality is most visible on Fairfax Avenue, where improv comedy theatres and thrift stores co-exist alongside kosher bakeries serving up freshly baked challah.

Sundries / Entertainment

In West Hollywood, there is always something to do, somewhere to shop, and someone to watch. We think a great day would start with a hike at Runyon Canyon Park - which has killer views all the way to the ocean - followed by a day of shopping at the new Grove at the Farmer's Market and ending with dinner at Cynthia's restaurant, where you absolutely must order her famous berry cobbler for dessert.
